

■ Proposed Budget - John Stott Award 2016-17

Description	Budget	Rationale
Focus Group	$ 694.00	$250 for a mini-retreat; $444 for books ($18 x 12; $19 x 12)
Sunday Morning Teaser Event: Faith & Science	$ 600.00	Alister McGrath has tentatively agreed to address the congregation on Sunday, Dec. 11th. Our hope is to draw the right kind of attention to this topic both within our church & in our broader community. Costs include: $500 promotion; $100 hospitality. (N.B., A congregant has offered to cover Dr. McGrath's honorarium.)
Community Engagement Event: Faith & Science	$ 5,200.00	With these events, we are hoping to (1) have a broader impact on the local Christian population, and (2) invite skeptics & seekers to "come & see" what's happening. In an attempt to avoid contention, the topics would be broadly evangelical under the heading: "Dare a scientist or scholar believe in God?" We would invite our 3 partner churches, churches connected with the www.issacharimperative.com , local universities, and interested skeptics & seekers. Costs include: $850 rental of local theater (x2); $250 promotion (x2); $1000 honorarium (x2); $500 travel/expenses (x2) *
Sunday Morning Capstone: Dare a scientist believe in God?	$ 2,600.00	Evolutionary Biologist from Westmont College, Dr. Jeff Schloss has tentatively agree to address the theme: Dare a scientist believe in God? Costs include: $1000 honorarium; $350 promotion; $1250 travel and board
Theology at the Pub	$ 400.00	We would promote this conversation among skeptics & seekers through our Theology at the Pub program, which is run by our Focus Group member, Navin Matthew.
Sermon Series Based Forums	$ 400.00	These forums would allow the focus group members to work along with the pastoral staff to help facilitate in-depth discussions & Q & A following the sermons. These funds would cover materials, hospitality, print and other incidental costs for the discussion groups.
Miscellaneous	$ 106.00
Total	$ 10,000.00

* We have tentative confirmations from Dr. Jennifer Wiseman, Senior Project Scientist for the Hubble Space Telescope, and Dr. David Skeel, Law Professor at University of Pennsylvania and author of True Paradox.
